Nagasaki (Japan):

July 20th, 1864 The small American a xillary steamer Moniter property of Messis. H. K. Drake & Co. of Bills and grant Loans to constituents on suprov-Shanghai, left Hakodadi on the morning of ed Banking securities. 2nd. July expecting to make a passage down to Nagasaki under 10 days; elle met with contrary winds, became short of coals, water and provisions; and coming close on the land, observed several Japanese Junks at an auchor and close to it a fine looking harbour with two towns in it, concluded to stop there and try to obtain what she needed. auchoring in the afternoon of the 10th, at I o'clock. Shortly after the anchored a Japanese boat come alongside and enquired what she wanted; they were informed that she wanted coals, water, and provisons, or fire wood if no coalk were to be had, and that she was an American steamer from Hakodadi or her way to Nagdsaki with sea weed, and only touched there by necessity; the officers said that they would inform their high officers of their want and no doubt in the morning she would get the supplies. The Captain feeling great confidence, in the friendly manner of the Jupaness, ordered the fires to be put down, and turned in for the night. During the night the mate informed the Captain that he heard considerable noise on shore, but not suspecting any treachery he paid no attention to it, until London Bankers. The London Joint Stock Bank a little after 4 A.M. he was aroused by hearing the fitting of a gun when he at once upprehended some trouble, and ordered steam to be got up immediately, and while the steam was being got up, the fort to the South East of the town kept, constantly firing into her, but with no effect. In the meantime a large body of people had gathered around the shore opposited. the ship, and when they saw her about starting they fired into her about a 1,000 shot from rifles, gingalle &c. going all over and round the ship, and only twenty seven of them took effect on her side. The ship now being under way the Captain returned their fire with a couple of Parrott's Rifled Guns that he had us his armement on board, and fired some 20 odd sliells into the town, and greater part of them with great effect, as was seen by the houses being blown up to pieces. The suin having only a few hours goal praceeded under sail across the Island of Susina, and came to an anchor there close to a village, from which she was at once boarded, and being asked what she wanted the request being, made as at Fukugawa, the officers promised at once to supply their wants, upon which the Captain made thom several presents and treated them with kindness; but the unxt day passing without receiving or hearing unvilling from thein he concluded to send some mon on shore to cut some wood and fill up his water casks, and after a days work continued her voyage. The next day blowing very heavy from the southeast, and the ship making no progress, and seeing a very fine harbour with a large settle ment went into it and anchored, when again she was bourded by the Japanese officials from whom again was requested supplies of stores and coals or fire wood, making them several presents, and they promised strongly to bring all they wanted on board-Next morning finding that they did not come, the Captain sent again his crew on shore to cut the wood, every bout that came near the ship was informed that they were short of prayivions de that they would buy anything they may have for sale, and only one boat brought on board 2 chiokens and a few eggs for which 12 Itzyllous had to be paid. On the fire wood cut hy the crew heing received on board, the vessel coutinued her voyage, and next day having the wind from the Westivard they were able to thake good use of her sails and came near this port, and the firewood being finished they were compelled to burn the bulk heads, suce Drafts on the Alliance Bank of London and old ropes and every thing they could lay hold of Liverpeol, the Bank of England, and its Head to enter the port, where she anchored in front of the foreign settlement of Nugasaki on Suitday afternoon at 6 o'clock the 17th, inst. Uranelies at the most important places in China; has ; been in contemplation for a very long period.

The local and foreign trade in Hougkong and at the open ports in China and Japan has increased so rapidy within the last few yours that additional Bunking facilities are felt to be required f The Banks now in China being only branches of Corporations whose shead quarters are in England or India, and which were formed chiefly with the view of carrying on exchange operations between those countries and China, are scarcely in a position to deal satisfactorily, with the local. trade which has become so much more extensive and varied than in former years. This deficiency the Hongkong and Shangha Banking Company will supply, and will in fact. assume the same position with relation to this Colony as the Presidency Banks in India, or the Banks of Australia in their respective localities. The Establishment of a Mint in Hongkong, providing up adequate supply of proper europay; will render a local Banking modfum essential to carry out its operations, and the almost certain

(so far as money is concerned) will also ensure rates which may be ascertained in application Hanks becoming in course of time the exclusive. inedium for the trumsaction of the monotary one. rotions connected with trade. For the anticipated success of this cuterprise there are therefore ample grounds; and the great prosperity which has attended the working of other local associations in China clearly shows that the largest profits are obtained by those Public Companies which possess an interested local body of Propriotors or Sharoholders whose support naturally forms a chief element, of remuherative succession The Bank will commence operations simultaneously in Hongkong and Shanghai and as the huportance of its business at the latter place must ing a loan of £1,000,000 to the colony of New Zealand, to be secured as a first charge on the colonial revenues, which how presented a surplus of £250,000 a year; the amount to be raised at a rate not exceeding 4 per sont, with a sinking fund of 2 per cent, thus creating an angual payment of £80,000. The reasons for granting the loan were the large expenditure that had been entailed or the colony by the present war, and the prospect of ou early pacification taking place; that would involve a further expenditure in carrying out those measures of improvement which the returnof peace would necessitate. Out of the loan of £1:000.000, the impount due to the Treasury £300,000 would in the first ikstance be discharged and next at the closs of the present year the nominel arrangements, with regard its the military expenditure would terminate, and New Zialand would have to pay a substantial contribution to the Imperial exchequer for any such aid asit might receive hereafter in any period of capergoncy? Sir H. Willoughby said that he had examined the financial accounts of New Zedland, and they were in a very unsatisfactory state. He was onnvinced that there was no margin to meet the propored guarantes. Mr. Addorley was disposed to voto for the loan if for no other reason, because it had the windislor attached that in future the colony would I self have to pay for the services of Imperial troops in ex-
